Our magazine, Aviação Agrícola, specialized in the area, created by IBRAVAG, is a project of SINDAG, which has almost 90% of associated companies in the sector. It has been circulating since 2018 and leaves much more than a trail of information: it has been making and causing changes and growth in the segment. It has a quarterly circulation of 3,500 copies, sent to: the press, faculties, politicians and public agencies; exhibitors at the Congress of Agricultural Aviation in Brazil, promoted by SINDAG, associates; agricultural aircraft owners, farm owners (private operators), pilots and mechanics from many Brazilian states.

This entire public forms a huge chain of professionals, as each plane has a team around it (agronomists, pilots, mechanics, agricultural technicians). Also, students and professors from universities of Agronomy and Aviation.
